VETERAN MONTGOMERY TRAFFIC OFFICER TO HAND IN BADGE MONDAY

By John L. Rainey (In Montgomery Journal)

One man who isn't worried about the meat shortage is Police- man William Washington Smith, who put in his final tour of duty on the Montgomery police force last Monday. The popular whistle-blower at Washington and Perry streets says, "I really love my vegetables, and as long as I have 'em I'll be happy."

After putting in 20 years and three one-half months service on the Montgomery force, "Smitty" intends to rest his feet a while and then get in some leisurely fishing and hunting. "Had a lot of job offers," he says, "but I am just going to relax for a while. May work for the State later on."

Curb Mart Head Pays Tribute Patrons and members of the Montgomery Club Market Association will miss the friendly policeman, Joe L. Trutt, president of the association, said. "Mr. Smith has helped us more than I can say. He's always been much more helpful, courteous and efficient than one would believe possible with all the traffic coming and going here."

Smith says he hates to leave "all the wonderful friends I have here, but it's not as though I'm going away off some place. I'll be staying right here in Montgomery and hope to see everyone of them every day."

Friends have heard a lot about "Smitty's" two grandchildren. One is the son of his daughter, Mrs. C. A. Turner and the other one is out in Oakland, Calif., with his father, W. E. Smith, who is in the Navy there.

"Smitty" says he was raised in Clayton and Elba before coming here 20 years ago to begin his job with the police department. "Why," he was raised right there with Big Jim, and there's a fine boy."

1,205 Coffee County farmers have made application for blue lupine, Austrian winter peas, phosphate, basic slag, lime and terracing.

The above practices add nitrogen to the soil which will aid these farmers to make better crops next year. The time for the district shows next April. These calves were bought for the average price of 17.66 per pound.

Boys and girls taking calves this week were as follows: Billy Olmstead, Curtis; Jack Donaldson, Curtis; Bobby Helms, Enterprise; Dixie Sims, Enterprise; and Roy Sims, Enterprise. These calves bring the total number of 4-H beef calves in the county to 40, which means that Coffee County 4-Hers should be well represented at the shows next spring.

Chicago Union Pits Ban

On Women Bartenders

CHICAGO. — The Chicago Bartenders union (AFL) served formal notice on tavern owners recently to eliminate women bartenders by April 30.

James Crowley, union president, said that during the war it was necessary to admit 125 women members, 30 of whom still remain as bartenders. He added that the failure of returning servicemen who are union members to find work caused the ban on women.

The only exception to the union ultimatum will be for women who own taverns and for the wives of officers.

Her Seventeenth Child

SOLDIERS GROVE, WIS. — With the arrival of their 17th child, Mr. and Mrs. Fere Seville, who live on a farm near here, said they think they have the most children of a couple their age.

Seville is 35, his wife 35. They were married 21 years ago. They've had 11 girls and 6 boys, with no multiple births.

Mrs. Seville said that children are "no bother, the older ones take care of the younger ones, and the Lord seems to take care of the money."

New Bomber

Greatest Yet

Great Flying With No Fuselage Dwarfs B-29; 10,000 Miles Nonstop

LOS ANGELES. — Official review from its flying bomber, the XB-35, a radical design, has been removed by the army, says the Associated Press. The plane dwarfs the B-29 and has an announced range of more than 10,000 miles — about one-fourth greater than the world's distance record.

The bomber was designed and built by Northrop Aircraft, Inc., at Hawthorne, Calif. It is expected to fly in a short time.

The XB-35 is shaped like a colossal bomber, it has no fuselage or exposed engine nacelles. Crew, engines, fuel and armament are housed inside the wing. Crew quarters are pressurized.

The plane spans 172 feet and has a center wing of 37 feet, 8 inches. The wingspan is 14 feet and is 9 feet sharply to end widths of 9 feet, 4 inches.

Although its normal gross load is 162,000 pounds, it is designed to fly with an overload up to 200,000 pounds. The empty weight is 80,000 pounds, and the useful load—available for fuel and bombs—is 120,000 pounds at normal gross load and 120,000 pounds at overload.

The B-29 Superfortress, has a wing span of 141 feet and is 98 feet long. Its normal gross weight loaded is around 135,000 pounds and its overload weight 140,000 pounds.

Possible Civilian Use.

John K. Northrop, president of the aircraft company, said the XB-35 was adaptable to civilian use.

He said the wing design offered tremendous advantages in lift. The ratio of lift to drag in the flying wing, he said, is between 140 and 200 to 1, while in conventional types of planes it is between 90 and 100 to 1.

The result, he said, is that the flying wing can carry one-fourth as much weight as conventional types, and can travel one-fourth faster with an identical load, and can fly at least one-fourth faster than a conventional plane of similar weight and horsepower.

Each of the four Pratt and Whitney Wasp Major engines turn a pair of counter-rotating four-bladed propellers at the rear of the wing.

Powerful Engines.

The engines are the most powerful radial in the world. One has an emergency rating of 3,000 horsepower for the XB-35, although the engine has been announced as able to produce more than 3,800 horsepower.

An outstanding feature of the engine is the "elevators" as controls. These do the work of the elevators and ailerons. The rudder is replaced by channelled air flow near the wing tips which when opened create a drag and turn the aircraft.

The army air forces has ordered 15 of the huge wings. The first is costing about $3 million dollars. The XB-35 appears readily adaptable to jet propulsion.

The wing has a normal crew of nine—two pilots, engineer, navigator, radio operator, bombardier and three gunners — and accommodations for six alternate crewmen.

John Northrop has been working with the flying-wing idea since 1922. The first successful version was the N3M, which flew in 1929.

State Democratic Executive

Committee Urges Affirmative Vote

T-S WADE MOODY WRITES FROM GERMANY ABOUT CONDITIONS "BACK HOME"

September 9, 1946, Camp Grohn, Germany.

Dear Editor:
Here is a letter to the people back home. It is left up to you to decide whether you will print it in your paper or not. I think it contains the truth and most of the people think the same thing deep down inside.

Some people may want to cut my throat for what I have to say. As a member of the Occupation Army of Germany we hear things that are rather disgusting to us. However, the American people forgot about all of the young Americans who gave their lives for the freedom that you enjoy today? And don't say that you don't have it. If you had to live as the German people for awhile you would be much more grateful for what you have. During the war you would do anything to help the men over here, but now what? The war is over, but the peace won't. Many of you have never thought of it, but that depends on you.

There is not a day that passes that we don't hear of some kind of confusion in the States. People speak about the failure of the Big Three. Is it their fault they don't agree? In some ways, yes, but in others it is not. How can a country take another country's democracy when they are in a state of confusion themselves?

At first take yourself. How do you get along with your neighbor? Nine times out of ten you don't get along? Why? Did you ever stop and think that it might be your fault?

Second, Let's see how your country gets along. Do they agree on everything or should I say, anything? Now here is the question: How do you expect to have World Peace when you can't get along with your neighbor?

How many people get into office in a Democracy? The people put them there that is how they got there. But brother, that means you! What happens two months after a man gets into office? Why, he is the scandal of the country! When the people wake up and live the man who has the office can't get along. Remember he is the people's choice and who are the people? That is you, you and you. Why abuse the leaders, because if you do better I am sure the people will give you a chance.

In every community in the States there is always a little building that welcomes anyone and everyone each Sunday morning. It is your choice whether you go there or not. There will be a time when all the money in the world will be no good to anyone!
